THE BEAVER ARGUS.

Vol. 53—No. 22. Beaver, Pa., Wednesday, June 7, 1871. Established 1818.

ADVERTISEMENTS.

Advertisements are inserted at the rate of $1.00 per square for first insertion, and for each subsequent insertion 50 cents. A liberal discount made on yearly advertisements.

A space equal to ten lines of this type measures a square.

Business Notices set under a head by themselves, immediately after the local news, will be charged ten cents a line for each insertion.

Advertisements should be handed in before Monday noon to insure insertion in that week's paper.

THE BEAVER ARGUS

Is published every Wednesday in the old Argus building on Third Street, Beaver, Pa., at $2 per year in advance.

Communications on subjects of local or general interest are respectfully solicited. To insure attention favors of this kind must invariably be accompanied by the name of the author.

Letters and communications should be addressed to

J. WEYAND, Beaver, Pa.

A REMINDER.

To Debilitated Persons,
To Dyspeptics,
To Sufferers from Liver Complaint,
To those having no Appetite,
To those with Broken Down Constitutions,
To Nervous People,
To Children Wasting Away,
To any with Debilitated Digestive Organs,

Or Suffering with any of the following Symptoms, which indicate Disordered Liver or Stomach,

such as
Constipation, Inward Piles, Fullness or Blood to the Head, Acidity of the Stomach, Nausea, Heartburn, Disgust for Food, Fullness, or Weight in the Stomach, Sour Eructations, Sinking or Fluttering at the pit of the Stomach, Swimming of the Head, Hurried and Difficult Breathing, Fluttering at the heart, Choking or Flutterings Sensations when in a lying Posture, Dimness of Vision, Dots or Webs before the Sight, Fever and Dull Pains in the Head, Deficiency of Perspiration, Yellowness of the Skin and Eyes, Pain in the Side, Back, Chest, Limbs, &c.; Burning in the Flesh, Constant Imagining of Evil, & Great Depression of Spirits.

HOOFLAND'S GERMAN BITTERS.

A Bitters without Alcohol or Spirits of any kind.

Is different from all others. It is composed of the pure Juices, or Vital Principle of Roots, Herbs and Barks, (or as medicinally termed Extracts,) the worthless or inert portions of the ingredients not being used. Therefore, in one Bottle of these Bitters there is contained as much medicinal virtue as will be found in several gallons of ordinary mixtures. The Roots, &c., used in this Bitters, are grown in Germany, their vital principles extracted in that country by a scientific Chemist, and forwarded to the manufactory in this city, where they are compounded and bottled. Containing no spirituous ingredients, this Bitters is free from the objections urged against all others: no desire for stimulants can be induced from their use, they cannot make drunkards, and cannot under any circumstances, have any but a beneficial effect.

HOOFLAND'S GERMAN TONIC,

Was compounded for those not inclined to extreme bitters, and is intended for use in cases when some alcoholic stimulent is required in connection with the Tonic properties of the Bitters. Each bottle of the Tonic contains one bottle of the Bitters, combined with pure SANTA CRUZ RUM, and flavored in such a manner that the extreme bitterness of the Bitters is overcome, forming a preparation highly agreeable and pleasant to the palate and containing the medicinal virtue of the Bitters. The price of the Tonic is $1.50 per Bottle, which many persons think too high. They must take into consideration that the stimulent used is guaranteed to be of a pure quality. A poor article could be furnished at a cheaper price, but if it not better to pay a little more and have a good article? A medicinal preparation should contain none but the best ingredients; and they who expect to obtain a cheap compound, must be benefitted by it will most certainly be cheated.

SPEAK FOR THESE REMEDIES.

Who would ask for more Dignified or Stronger Testimony?

Hon. GEORGE W. WOODWARD, formerly Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania, at present Member of Congress from Pennsylvania, writes:

PHILADELPHIA, March 16, 1867.

I find "Hoofland's German Bitters" is a good tonic, useful in diseases of the digestive organs, and of great benefit in cases of debility and want of nervous action in the system. Yours truly,

GEORGE W. WOODWARD.

Hon. JAMES THOMPSON, Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania.

PHILADELPHIA, April 26, 1867.

I consider Hoofland's German Bitters" a valuable medicine in case of attacks of Indigestion or Dyspepsia. I can certify this from my experience of it. Yours with respect,

JAMES THOMPSON.

Hon. GEORGE SHARSWOOD, Justice of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania:

PHILADELPHIA, June 1, 1868.

I have found by experience that "Hoofland's German Bitters" is a very excellent remedy when used some 35 years ago; the teeth as perfect as the day they were filled. Laughing Gas pressed on a new plan, freeing it from all unpleasant and dangerous effects, making the extraction of teeth a source of pleasure rather than of horror and pain. Price as low as any good dentist in the State. Office at Beaver Station, Rochester Pa.

ARTIFICIAL TEETH PERFECTED!—T. J. & H. J. CHANDLER have purchased the exclusive right of Beaver county to use Dr. Stuck's Patent by which they can put up Vulcanite as thin as Gold Plate, with a beautiful enameled polish; and so light and elastic as to perfectly adapt itself to the mouth; obviating all that clumsy and bulky condition, so much complained of heretofore; and lessening their liability to break 100 per cent. Indeed, no one seeing, it would be willing to wear the old style plate any longer than they could conveniently get them exchanged. All branches of Dentistry performed in the best and most substantial manner. In filling gold, etc., we challenge competition from any quarter, and can refer to living subjects whose fillings have stood between thirty and forty years. Among the number Hon. John Allison will exhibit fillings we inserted some 35 years ago; the teeth as perfect as the day they were filled. THE Democracy of Ohio held their State Convention at Columbus, on last Thursday and nominated Col. George W. McCook for Governor, and Samuel F. Hunt for Lieut. Governor.—The resolutions adopted by the Convention approve the constitutional amendments and henceforth negro suffrage is to be acquiesced in by the Democratic party of Ohio.

THE United States Supreme Court has recently decided that the stocks of National Banks cannot be pledged by the stockholders to the bank issuing them as securities for loans or discounts. The court also held that surplus moneys expended by corporations in making improvements are liable to the income tax. The latter decision is only an extension of the original ruling that moneys expended on "betterments" cannot be deducted from income.

THE Washington correspondent of the New York Sun alleges that on Monday of last week General Sickles, our Minister to Spain, was instructed by telegraph to notify the Spanish Government that the estates belonging to American citizens in Cuba which had been confiscated, must be immediately returned to their owners, and damages of their sequestration must be paid, or that warlike measures will at once be set on foot by the American Government. The order to Gen. Sickles was to give the Spanish Government one week in which to make it answer.

THE Government papers of Canada, of June 1st, seem to foreshadow the intended policy of Sir John A. McDonald and Cabinet with reference to the Washington Treaty. The Times says that neither the Government of Canada as a whole, nor Sir John A. McDonald as its first Minister, are committed to the Treaty. They have taken care to reserve to themselves the right of most complete freedom of action in the matter. The Citizen, says Sir John A. McDonald displayed sound judgment in avoiding an extreme and taking a more moderate course, as it is understood the signing of the treaty was with reluctance and reservation.

W. W. WALLACE, the Speaker of the last State Senate, has been selected to fill the position of Chairman of the State Central Democratic Committee. Mr. W. is a hard-worker and one of the best organizers in the State. If it be possible, he will bring about the success of the Democracy at the October election. The only way to checkmate Wallace and his manipulations, is for the Republicans on our State ticket to insist upon the selection of a Chairman for our Committee who is known to be honest, capable, and one who possesses the confidence of the whole party. To put the management of the campaign into the hands of one who does not possess these requisites, will be a misfortune that the party, at the present time, cannot well bear.

A NORTHERN Democrat who went South to seek his fortune a year ago, having expended all his surplus cash, was forced to seek employment in a private school, whereof a majority of the pupils were colored. Recently a party of men, disguised, waited upon him at night and taking him to a piece of woods, stripped him naked, and gave him five days to quit that region. But the Northerner is plucky, and announced in a card to the local paper that he "will pursue to the bitter end of the law any one of the perpetrators of the shame inflicted upon him, or if they will give him a man's chance, will drop all law against them and will settle the matter with them, 'man to man and foot to foot.'"

AN odd commentary on the doctrine of infallible maternal instinct is offered by the Tichborne case now before the English courts. A certain Roger Tichborne, heir to a baronetcy, ran off when a boy to Australia, and was lost in the bush. In 1866 he, or his counterfeit, re-appeared with a wife and three children, claiming his title and estates. His mother recognized and acknowledged him as her son. The executors of the Tichborne property refused to admit his claims, however, and still refuse, on the grounds that the persons of the real and feigned Sir Roger are entirely unlike; and whereas the boy who disappeared was educated and a gentleman, the present claimant is an ignorant and vulgar boor, not even able to spell or construct a sentence correctly in his own language. Every day brings up fresh witnesses who swear for or against his identity with equal pertinacity and with feverish haste, the counsel goading them on either side, as the plaintiff, whether real or sham, is in a dying condition; and, uncertain as he is while living, there will be less chance of identifying him as a ghost.

BRIGHAM YOUNG is a devout believer in the maxim that it is always advisable to have something to fall back upon. His something is the Sandwich Islands. There can be no question that he, being the prudent man he is, has contemplated the possibility of such an irruption of Gentiles into Utah as will make another removal of the Saints expedient, if not absolutely necessary. In casting about for means to provide against this emergency, his eye would naturally rest upon the group in question. A more eligible "Zion" could not be found in the two hemispheres, and there can be no question that the prophet President has thought of migration thither as among the possibilities of the future. It is not difficult, therefore, to understand the interest taken by him and his confidential counselors in the Mormon mission in those lands. This mission, if we may credit the Otahite correspondence of the Deseret News, is thriving beyond all expectation. At the last conference, held April 6th, 1,611 native converts were reported, and ten more native preachers were sent into the field. One of the editors writes that he never saw such devoted and demonstrative attachment as these dusky saints exhibit to their spiritual instructors.

THE Democratic State Committee of Tennessee met in Nashville, on Thursday last upon the call of its Chairman, and adopted a resolution declaring their acceptance in good faith of the issues of the war, with all the late amendments to the Constitution, and their acquiescence in them as the supreme law of the land. They also declared their approval of the late Democratic Congressional address. At a large meeting of the editors of the Democratic press of the State present in Nashville at the time of the session of the Executive Committee, the action of the latter body was fully endorsed. The meeting was composed of Democratic editors from all parts of the State. Per contra, Jeff. Davis is stumping the South against this position. In a speech recently delivered by him at Atlanta, Georgia, he said: "I am not of those "who 'accept the situation.' I accept "nothing. I have done nothing that "I am sorry for. I shall not abide "by the issues of the war. The South "is only waiting. The cause for "which we fought must triumph "sooner or later. Our policy is to "watch the current of events, and "when our friends at the north are "ready to help us we will help them. "They will give us what we want, "and we shall put them in power."

They want "State Rights." The right of any State to break up the Union. For this he fought, and "has done nothing to be sorry for." State "sovereignty must be restored," exclaims the rebel ex-President, "or "else the republic of America is a failure. The day is not far distant "when the sun will shine upon you "as a free, independent and sovereign "State." The South does not desire immediate war to restore State sovereignty. They simply asked "to be let alone," immediately subsequent to secession. They now claim the right to repudiate the recent amendments to the federal constitution, and the right to restore slavery and overturn the results of the war. These are the real sentiments of the old Democracy of the North as well as the South; and the party must reconcile "the departures," in both sections, before it can again be styled "the harmonious Democracy."

THE Bucks County Intelligencer says one afternoon last week a large seal was captured by three young men in the Delaware river, between Bordentown and Bristol. They were engaged in fishing with a seine, when they discovered a singular object in the water, which they tried without success to take in their nets. They then procured guns and ammunition, and when the animal again appeared on the surface, began to fire at it.—The seal would almost instantly submerge itself, and the chase therefore lasted near the entire afternoon. At last, after receiving fifteen shots, it was killed. On being towed to shore and placed on the scales it was found to weigh 580 lbs. It is not known how long it had been in the river, but it undoubtedly came up from the ocean, through the throng of vessels of various kinds in front of Philadelphia.

IT is a current saying that ministers' sons and deacons' daughters are more likely than others to reject religion and fall a prey to the temptations of the world. The Rev. Asa Bullard has been gathering statistics to refute this proverb. Massachusetts and Connecticut furnished the field. In 448 ministers' and deacons' families there were 2,101 children over 15 years of age, of whom 1,414 were hopefully pious; 93 were in the ministry, or fitting for it, and only 31 dissipated. And all the remaining children, with very few exceptions, were respectable and useful citizens. Mr. Bullard challenges a comparison with these figures on the part of any other class or profession among parents.

THE Ohio Democracy have, in State Convention, declared for the new departure. They announce that they disapprove of the means by which the recent amendments to the Constitution were brought about, but recognize them as accomplished facts not to be disturbed. Three States, therefore, Ohio, Pennsylvania and Tennessee, have signified that Frank Blair's revolutionary designs will meet with support from no quarter. The action of the Democracy in the States mentioned is a fresh guarantee of peace.

HON. GEORGE BANCROFT, the eminent historian, received the appointment a few days ago from the President, of Minister of the United States to confederated Germany. Mr. Bancroft, a few years ago, was appointed Minister to Prussia by President Johnson, and his being one of "Andy Johnson's office holders," was used as an argument against him recently, when his reappointment was pressed upon General Grant. We are rejoiced that the latter, recognizing his eminent fitness for the position, has again honored him with one of our most important diplomatic missions.

MRS. LAURA D. FAIR, the California woman who murdered Mr. Crittenden a few months ago in San Francisco, was sentenced to be hung, a few days ago. Her execution is to take place sometime in July. One of the papers of that city says that she takes the greatest pains with her toilet in prison, often changing her dress three or four times a day. She passes much of the time before her mirror, and, while admiring herself, says: "The more I see of myself, the more I am convinced I can never be hanged. Such a face and form as mine were never created for the gallows." She modestly asserts she was never so handsome as she is now.

HERE AND THERE.

—West Rochester, Vt., is afflicted with black bears to such an extent, that the people anticipate the necessity of an organized warfare against them.

—Among the emigrants recently arrived in this country, is a Collie dog from Scotland, said to be able to control 500 sheep. He is to be taken to Colorado.

—Long Branch proposes building an iron pier, similar to those at Brighton and Leeds, England. The pier will cost $150,000 in gold, and will extend four hundred and fifty feet into the ocean.

—Present prophecies from Delaware and Maryland are that the peach crop will reach three million five hundred thousand baskets—about half a million more than were gathered in 1869, which was the champion peach year.

—A singular case has come up in a London court. A solicitor, one Mr. Leonard Lewis, was ejected from a theatre for requesting a mumbling actor to "speak up," and now brings a suit against the management for damages.

—A soda water fountain exploded in the cellar of a country drug store on Tuesday. Mr. Blake, clerk in the store, was seriously injured, and may lose his eyesight from the effects of the sulphuric acid which was blown into his face.

—Gov. Gratz Brown has written a letter cordially approving the proposed Convention in St. Louis of the heads of the police force of the large cities, and suggesting that they specially consider how they may educate into good citizenship the unfortunate waifs of society, and how by reclaiming its outlaws they may diminish the now ever-increasing dangers of crime.

—A disciple of Isaac Walton, who has been trying the trout brooks in New Hampshire, found that the extreme drought of last summer has almost exterminated these beautiful fish. In brooks which formerly gave twenty to forty as the result of an hour's fishing, a half-day's labor produces but one or two. He suggests that fishers should hold back for a year or two, and that associations be formed to re-stock the brooks.

—Six diamonds, each upward of fifty carats in weight, have been found in South Africa within four years, while Brazil during that period has produced only one of similar size. A gentleman who recently returned from the South African diamond fields, stated to the London Geologists' Association, that after two or three months' search, success on the part of the searcher was certain. Stones to the amount of $750,000 in value have passed through the custom-house; and it is believed that the yield of the district during the past four years is worth twice that sum.

—The Scriptural injunction, "Man shall not live by bread alone," is probably true in a physical, no less than a religious sense. A series of experiments by Gustave Meyer, of Oldenburg confirms the view hitherto entertained, that a great waste of material results from feeding either animals or man on bread alone. To prevent the body from losing flesh, an enormous amount of bread must be given while there can be little doubt that the use of meat is not only more economical, but more wholesome also.

—At Chicago, last Thursday afternoon, a young girl named Lizzie R. Westcott, accepted the invitation of a boat ride instead of going to school. Afterwards she wrote a note to her teacher, signed with the name of her aunt, saying she had been detained at home. This little deception so wrought upon the sensitive heart of the poor girl that she committed suicide the same night by taking morphine.

—There was a wild scene at a fire in Findley, Ohio, a few nights ago, when it became known that there were three kegs of powder in one of the burning buildings; but a young man, Henry Erb by name, rushed in, brought out two of them, and then returning, found that the fire was already charring the keg that yet remained. Seizing it nevertheless, he brought it out.

—A candidate for the prize of twenty thousand dollars offered by the late M. Breaut for a cure for the cholera, sends to the Paris Academy of Science an account of what he believes to be the true cure. It is very simple; consisting of merely a film of a mixture of collodion and castor oil laid over the stomach of the patient so as to completely cover it. We are not informed whether it has ever been tested.

—Collector Latham writes from Huntsville, Alabama, that there is a large amount of internal revenue tax due in the interior and mountainous country of his district which he cannot collect in the ordinary way and consequently several of his deputies have resigned and no responsible men can be found who will undertake the collection by distraint and sale because they could not do so and live in safety in the country. The collector therefore asks whether or not he may be permitted to go to the county assessors tax books and ascertain what delinquents have property and distrain and sell the property at the county court house in each county where the distraint is made instead of within five miles of the property so distrained as required by the law governing in such cases. The commissioner says—"I reply that in your cases it is declined to grant it for the reasons you state would be to concede that the laws of the United States cannot be executed in your district. I intend to collect the revenue of the United States in Alabama as I do in Massachusetts, and appoint new Deputies in place of those who have resigned, and proceed with the execution of your duties. If you are resisted call upon the local authorities for aid, and if this is not sufficient telegraph to me at once and I will ask for troops to maintain your authority and insure the execution of the law.

—We learn from the Cumberland county Daily News that two men were horribly scalded to death on Thursday last, by the upsetting of a locomotive on the Cumberland and Pennsylvania Railroad, and the breaking of the escape pipe. They are said to have presented a horrible sight as their clothing was removed preparatory to alleviating their pain; not a particle of their flesh, from the tops of their heads to the tips of their toes, but was scalded. The finger and toe nails came off, and the skin peeled off their bodies. All that medical and surgical skill could do was done, but they survived but a short time after the accident.

AN EXTRAORDINARY EXECUTION.

A Murderer is Allowed Twenty Days to Settle his Affairs—He Appears Promptly and Meets his Doom.

A gentleman of Jonesburg, Mo., recently returned from Texas, relates an extraordinary occurrence which took place a short time since in the Indian Nation. He was an eye witness of the scene. A Choctaw Indian, having, committed a wilful murder, was arrested, tried, and sentenced to be shot to death. He asked for twenty days in which to prepare and visit his friends, giving his word of honor as a "brave" to return at the appointed time, and was allowed to go forth without a guard or ball.

At the expiration of the twenty days, according to appointment, the hour for the execution arrived and the Indian, true to his word, at the very hour and minute galloped up to the place where the sentence was to be carried out, in company with three of his sisters and three brothers, all appearing as cheerful as though they had come to a dance or a frolic. The coffin was then brought on the ground, but some one remarked that it was too small, upon which one of the doomed Indian's brothers told him to lay down in it and measure, which he cheerfully did, and laughingly said, "it fits all right." The crowd meanwhile appeared to be in the most cheerful spirits, and cracked jokes and laughed. At last, when all was ready, the doomed man was ordered to sit on the ground. A handkerchief was then placed over his eyes by his sister. While the Sheriff held one hand, one of the condemned Indian's brothers held the other on each side of him. The deputy sheriff then stood in an old house, about ten steps in front of the condemned, with a rifle. From some cause the rifle went off accidentally, the bullet passing up through the roof of the house. The Indian, believing he was shot, drew himself up and shuddered, but did not speak or move from the spot. A black mark was then made over the Indian's heart, with spittle and powder, by his brother, while the deputy sheriff reloaded his rifle, and at a signal he took steady aim, fired, and pierced the center of the mark. The Indian, with a few struggles, fell back, dead, with his brother and the sheriff still holding his hands. No one seemed to be in the least affected, except the doomed Indian's mother, who shed tears, but was told to "shut up" by her son, that all was over. Thus ended the extraordinary execution. The particular locality in the Indian nation where this occurrence took place is not given.

Vengeance of an Indian Girl.

A singular case of jealousy, which recently occurred in Western Texas, is given in the El Paso Herald. It seems that a young man named Chandos, a native of Rochester, in England, had made love to a beautiful half-breed girl, sixteen years of age. The girl was half Apache and half French. In addition to her great beauty, she was intelligent, vivacious and as active and alert as an antelope. She was gentle and affectionate, and no one suspected her of possessing the terrible passions which jealously subsequently aroused in her bosom.

The English lover unfortunately became acquainted with a white girl named Wilson, who was on a visit to a Southern State to her friends in Western Texas. Miss Wilson was beautiful and accomplished; and her civilized graces proved more than a match for the attractions of the Apache girl. The result was that Chandos deserted the beautiful half-breed, and became engaged to Miss Wilson. The wedding-day was set. On hearing of the faithlessness of her lover, the hitherto undeveloped instincts of her Apache blood were roused to all their savage fury in the breast of the untutored belle of the forest. Arming herself with a revolver, she went to the residence of her lover, crept softly to his room, and shot him through the heart as he sat writing a note to his betrothed. She was arrested a few hours, afterward, and confined for the night in an old log cabin, in default of a prison. But her friends rescued her, and she fled to the wilderness, there to take up her abode with her mother's wild kindred.

A Congress of Pigeons.

The Madison, (Wis.) Journal gives the following account of a congress of pigeons in that State.

"Last week General Henry Harnden visited the pigeon roosts near Kilbourn City, and spent several days there, and from him we gather some facts that may be of interest to sportsmen about here. The roosts commence about five miles from Kilbourn City, are eight to ten miles wide, and extend as far north as Grand Rapids, in Portage county, about forty or forty-five miles."

The General says the country is poor, sandy, and scrubby. The pigeons have taken possession of the woods, and their nests are to be seen on every tree. On one tree he counted forty-six nests, and thinks there must have been at least a hundred on some of the larger ones. The ground is covered with dead birds. The woods are full of Indians, hunters, and trappers from all over the country. Some are there just for the sport of the thing, and some gathering them and sending to the large cities for sporting clubs, to the markets, &c.

The pigeons have attracted considerable wild game, and numerous wolves and foxes have been seen and killed. There are old trappers up there who make pigeon hunting a business, and follow all the roosts. The General camped one night in the woods in the midst of the pigeons and says they fluttered around and were not quiet until near morning.

In the woods the birds do not fly in flocks, as is generally supposed, but are scattered and fly in and out more like mosquitos, so that it is very, hard, although there seems to be millions of pigeons around, to kill large numbers at one shot. All the pigeons killed dropped with their crops filled with wheat, oats and pigeon grass. When the young ones are about two weeks old the old ones fill their crops with oats and desert them. The roosts seem to be extending toward the north, and many prophesy that the pigeons will soon take their departure for Michigan.

Explosion of a Steam Tug.

At the time of the explosion of the tugboat B. B. Jones, at Port Huron, Mich., on Thursday last, the crew were at dinner. The first engineer and six others were killed, and two badly bruised and scalded. There is little reason to hope for their recovery. The Captain was thrown from his chair at the dinner table and high into the air, falling into the river. His injuries are severe. The second engineer is the only person that escaped unhurt. The hull and machinery and furniture were shattered to small pieces. Part of the wreck was found a quarter of a mile distant from the catastrophe. The Jones was a first class tug, refitted last winter. She was owned by Trowbridge & Wilson, of Detroit. The cause of the explosion is unknown, but was probably a defect in the force pump which supplied the boiler. The body of John McQuire, one of the victims, has been recovered.

NEWS SUMMARY.

—A Temperance Convention to nominate State officers was held at Watertown, Wis., on Tuesday, June 6th.

—Mr. Vallandigham's "new departure" resolutions are called by the Ohio Republicans, the "old clothes platform," meaning that they are the second-hand property of the Republican party.

—The New York Tribune says: It is easy to say that Jeff. Davis is "politically dead," but when the leading, influential citizens of Georgia and South Carolina flock around him and applaud his utterances, what then?"

—The Kentucky Democrats had one Union man on their State ticket; but they have since counted him out, and now every man of them, from the candidate for Governor to the nominee for Register, was a Confederate officer or Confederate sympathiser.

—The Ohio Democrats held their State Convention June 1st, when candidates for Governor, Lieut. Governor, Attorney General, Auditor of State, Treasurer, Supreme Judge, Member of the Board of Public Works, and Commissioner of Common Schools were nominated.

—The Rev. Stearns Patterson, a retired M. E. Preacher, living near Stroudsburg, was watering his son's team, while the young man was getting a lunch in the house, when one of the horses kicked him in the temple, causing his death in less than ten minutes.

—The large lumber establishment of Messrs. Young & Woath, at Lock Haven, was burned on Wednesday. The origin of the fire is not positively known, but it is supposed that it caught from some part of the machinery. A very large quantity of lumber, about 3,000,000 feet, was destroyed.

—The Democratic Central Committee of North Carolina has published an address advising a full vote for the proposed Constitutional Convention, and urging the Democrats to fully abstain from all violence, and to make extraordinary efforts to preserve perfect peace, order and harmony, while they make a mighty effort to "remove the curse and blots that now darken their hopes and destroy their substance."

—The Easton Free Press says: A family in the upper part of our county, near Catasauqua, imagined a roll of butter which they had in their cellar to be bewitched, and "old Gretchen" thought she really saw the tracks of the witch. What did they do but gather three or four neighbor farmers, each armed with a blunderbuss shot gun, and carrying the butter out in the yard, shot and blew the commodity to atoms, and, of course, killed the witch.

—Clarion county has a female Ku Klux who is determined not to contribute her share to educating the rising generation. It appears that one Mrs. Knoko, a rich widow owning a fruitful farm, but being herself childless, conceived the idea of refusing to pay for the education of other people's children. Accordingly, when the tax collector called to levy on property sufficient to meet his demands, the irate and resolute widow barricaded her stable doors and made demonstrations of resistance. The officer and his posse, after viewing the situation, commenced tearing off boards to enter the cow out. This aroused the ire of the female warrior, and she commenced to attack the invaders. Clubs, stones, and pitch-forks were called into requisition, and the battle raged fearfully for an hour, when the assailing party, from force of numbers, succeeded in storming the fortress and driving off the cow.

—Last Sunday morning, a man by the name of Keihl, who resides in the neighborhood of Centerville, Cumberland county, was arrested at his home under strong suspicion of having administered poison to his wife. The circumstances in the case, as far as we have been able to learn them, are as follows: Sometime since Mrs. Keihl was taken suddenly sick, was seized with violent fits of vomiting, and gave other evidences of severe illness, nevertheless her husband refused to call in a physician and in a short time the lady died. This caused a doubt on the part of Keihl during his wife's illness, and his mysterious actions after her death, gave rise to suspicions which led to an investigation of the matter. The body of Mrs. Keihl was disinterred, her stomach and brain removed and sent to Carlisle for examination, and Keihl was arrested and lodged in the county jail to await the result of the investigation.

—The Tioga county Agitator, after moralizing on the mutability of life, says: "We are led to these remarks through interviewing a German who is at work on the railroad in this place, as a day laborer. This man has been a student at the best German universities, is a member of eminent literary associations in Germany, has been assistant editor of the "Leipsic Gartenlaube," and contributor to first-class German literary journals, may write himself Doctor of Philosophy, and is master of seven languages; among which are Chaldaic, Greek, Sanscrit, and Latin. He wrote poetry for the "Gartenlaube," and Germans hereabout say he wrote it well. And the Doctor is handling the pick and shovel with vigor and cheerfulness, coolly waiting for better days, with a patience that goes far to prove his philosophy.

THE PITTSTON DISASTER.

Funeral of the Victims.

The funeral services of the Protestant victims of the Pittston disaster, viz., John H. Burroughs, E. R. Davis, Benjamin Davis, David Edwards, Jean Lloyd, Aaron Smallcombe, Peter Davis, George Hull, were held at West Pittston Tuesday morning, at the grove near the shaft of the mine. Orations were delivered by several ministers. The sentiments expressed were exceedingly appropriate to the occasion, full of pathos, and abounding with rich and varied eloquence. Tears trickled down the rough visage of the miners, fellows of the dead. Cries of wailing and weeping mingled with the voices of the speakers. The grief of the widows and orphans was uncontrollable, and when cries failed them their anguish found vent in sighs and moans.

When the services were over four of the bodies were taken on a special train to Hyde Park. A very large procession accompanied them to the Hyde Park Cemetery, and the four bodies were laid near their Avondale fellow-laborers in life and companions in death.

In the afternoon interesting ceremonies were performed in the Catholic church. Father Finan officiated. The procession accompanying the nine bodies carried to the Catholic church was over a mile long, and had nearly a hundred carriages. The names of the dead, as announced in the church, were: Owen Macken, age 42, wife and children; Martin Cooney, age 41, single; Daniel O'Connor, age 19, single; Timothy Walsh, age 30, wife and three children; Martin Keehan, age 14; Patrick Farley, age 27, single; Thomas Ryan, age 39, wife and three children; Charles McGinnis, age 22, single.

In addition to the dead already recorded, Thomas Prosser, was buried yesterday.

Hiram Curtis, who was buried on Monday, had four children.

Wm. James, who has a wife and six children, died at 3:35 p. m. He had been brought out from the mine and was laid on the grass. His frantic wife moaned by his side while he was dying under the shade of a willow tree, the gold in the sky burning brightly.

In all twenty victims have been buried, leaving twelve widows and thirty-six orphans. Several of the sufferers are yet lying on the point of death, and may die at any moment.

FRENCH NEWS.

PARIS, Monday evening, May 29.—All is quiet. The victorious troops occupy the barracks. There is already a strong feeling that the Paris Government is too weak too last. An awful massacre still continues at the barricades in Rue Rochefort. The wounded people found in it were buried alive. They groaned and shrieked dreadfully all night. An epidemic is feared from the number of dead bodies. Vidal was shot, so was Furehead. The body of the latter was claimed by his widow. Forty thousand francs were found in his cellar, the spoils of the Republic. A northern member of the Commune was arrested and one hundred and fifty thousand francs found upon him. The Versaillists have placed back the statue of Henry Quatre, which had been thrown in the Seine. Okolovski was taken out and shot. Milliere was arrested at Luxembourg. He resisted violently, and fired six shots from his revolver. He was taken to Paris by a platoon of soldiers and shot. During an attack by the Versaillists upon the barricades in the Place des Feternum the Versaillists lost their way and got mixed up with the Communists, by whom they were taken prisoners and fifty of them shot. The Monde announces that Prince De Joinville and Duke D'Aumale have proclaimed their adherence to the manifesto of Count De Chambord, and the fusion of the Legitimists and Orleanists is complete. Cinchamp's corps of twenty thousand men have returned in triumph to Versailles with six thousand prisoners, who were discovered to be of the insurgents who murdered nine Dominican priests on Friday. The adherents of Duke Aumale and the Bonapartists are both very active in their schemes for the restoration of the Bourbon and Napoleonic dynasties.

LONDON, May 31.—To-day Parisadvices say that executions continue. Persons denounced as such as they are discovered in their hiding places, are arrested and shot. Numerous arrests of men and women continue to be made. There have been renewed attempts at assassination and arson. Many of those executed yesterday and to-day seemed to be perfectly crazy. A horrible effluvia from the bodies of the dead fills certain quarters of the city.

LONDON, June 1.—The Times' special from Paris says: The Versailles troops are not now so popular as when they entered Paris, because of the severe measurers taken by them against the population. Large numbers of Frenchmen and foreigners are returning to Paris to resume their commercial and manufacturing operations. The Standard contains a dispatch from Versailles announcing the resignation of Favre. Two more members of the Commune, Fankill and Fontaine, have been arrested.

PARIS, June 1.—The French journals are greatly divided in sentiment as to the future of the country. The opinion of the Bien Public, Politique Seicle and Constitutional favor the continuance of the Republic. The Temps Nationale and Patrie are guarded in their comments on the situation. The Opinion thinks the withdrawal of Theirs would be equivalent to revolution. The Seicle says Theirs is as energetic against the Bonapartists as the Reds. The Figaro favors no march. The sale of newspapers on the streets is prohibited. The Seicle was seized this morning. Executions have ceased. The prisoners are now on trial at Versailles. Barricades in Paris numbered four hundred.

VERSAILLES, June 3.—Archbishop Dorboy will be buried on Wednesday. On that day the Assembly will suspend its session. The insurgent who commanded the shooting of the Archbishop has been discovered through his own boasting. Another notable insurgent boasts that the burning of Paris will be considered insignificant when the London docks, with all their wealth, are consumed, as a good lesson to the middle classes of Europe. London, Liverpool and Bristol will, it is said, be the next scenes of secret operations. Papers have been discovered which show that the operations of the Communists were directed from London.

PARIS, June 3.—The order of the day issued by McMahon to the marines and soldiers of his armies, praises the courage and devotion which has delivered Paris out of the hands of the wretches who intended to reduce the city to ashes, and says that the Assembly is about to give them the worthiest recompense by unanimously voting that they have deserved well of their country. The streets have been reopened to traffic. The barricades have all disappeared, pavements repaired, and there is perfect order everywhere, and the police are still arresting all suspected persons.

An Appeal.

The following appeal to the public for aid to the sufferers by the Pittston disaster has been issued, and it is hoped that the benevolent throughout the country will respond liberally to the call:

TO THE BENEVOLENT PUBLIC.

In behalf of a grief-stricken community, paralyzed by a repetition of the great disaster at Avondale, we appeal to you for substantial aid. Of the sixty live men that entered the shaft at this place on Saturday morning, forty-five have been taken out alive, many of whom cannot long survive. Those who have already died were buried yesterday, mourned by the entire community. They leave behind them fourteen widows and thirty-six orphan children. In their behalf we ask your charity. Six months of idleness—enforced idleness—has made this community poor. Those who had the wherewithal to give have given during the last winter until their benefactions have exhausted their ability. Many are still on the very verge of starvation, and now, just as renewed labor had begun to cheer the heart, we are stricken down by this awful calamity.

Will you give us your mite towards relieving the widows and fatherless.

All contributions may be sent to Theodore Strong, Esq., President First National Bank, Pittston, Pa. By order of the Committee.

In commenting on the above appeal, the Scranton Republican says: "No one except those who have witnessed the grief and suffering of the sorely afflicted by this awful calamity can form any conception of the great necessity for relief for those so suddenly cut off from support. We hope that the people throughout the country will respond liberally to this call upon their generosity. These families—widows and orphans—are poor, and must be helped. Let there be no delay."

A Stratagem.

A few evenings since as Justice Evans was leaving his office, he was confronted by two charming young ladies, who requested a private interview. Conducting them back into his office, the bland magistrate inquired in what way he could oblige them. "You are a Justice of the Peace, are you not?" the eldest and by far the prettiest of them inquired. "Yes," he said. "And can marry people—that is, can marry a lady?" "Well, yes, if the lady brings a bridegroom along with her. I'm not a marrying man myself," rejoined the trembling magistrate, fearing lest his own liberty was involved in the issue. "Oh, not at all," said the damsel, and turning to her companion, continued, "I reckon, Willie, you can strip off these togs." No sooner said than done; the young lady's companion commenced to tear off her dress with a haste that promised a speedy nudity. Inexpressibly shocked (for the Judge is a very modest man,) he turned to escape from the room, when a second glance he could not restrain, revealed to him the fact that the supposed young lady in process of stripping off her female gear was not a girl but a strapping boy, who had used the disguise to get his dulcinia in the power of magistrate. Of course this explained the situation, and without more ado the Judge proceeded to join them in holy bonds "until death or the divorce courts should them sever." In remuneration for his trouble, the bride gave him a smacking kiss, and went on her way rejoicing. To use the Judge's own expressive phraseology, that kiss was beautiful.—[N. O. Pic.

Latest from Alaska.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 2.—The schooner Mary L. Taylor arrived from Sitka to-day, assigned to the United States Marshal here, her Captain having been arrested, charged with being engaged in contraband trade. Her owners claim that she was engaged in a legitimate trade in establishing a post on the main land of Alaska, north of Sitka.

General Miller, Collector of Customs, of this city, and associates, hold a monopoly of the seal killing, and trade under a concession from the government, and owners assert that the United States authorities are being made use of to break up all opposition to Hutchinson, Kohler & Co., and ruin everybody endeavoring to do business in the territory of Alaska. They will carry the case to Washington.

Notice to Steamboat Captains, Owners of Vessels, &c.

Take Notice. That I have erected, and am now operating, A WIRE FERRY across the Ohio River at Smith's Ferry, Beaver county, Pa. The following letter from Daniel Daugherty, esq., an Engineer of New Brighton, Pa., gives some particulars touching this Ferry that will be interesting to Steamboat men and others concerned.

JESSE SMITH.

"NEW BRIGHTON, Pa., May 20, 1871.

DEAR SIR:—Jesse Smith, esq., of Smith's Ferry, Beaver county, Pa., who has heretofore operated a ferry across the Ohio river, at that place, has recently been making a change in the mode's power. For the purpose of running the new ferry he has stretched an iron cable across the river. This cable is one and one-half inches in diameter, and is anchored on the right bank in rock, one hundred and six feet above high water mark, or the flood of 1852; and one hundred and forty-six feet above low-water mark of Sept. 10th, 1838. On the left bank it is supported by a tower fifty-one feet and six inches high, the cable being at this point one hundred and two feet and six inches above high-water mark; the length of the cable between the points last mentioned is 1320 feet, and it is seven feet and six inches above high water mark at the lowest point, or over one hundred feet above low-water mark—there being a sag of 45 feet at the lowest point of the cable. The whole length of the wire is 3100 feet, and is made of steel manufactured by John Roebling's Sons, Trenton, New Jersey, and weighs three pounds to the foot. The hoisting apparatus was constructed by A. Harrington, of Pittsburgh. The boat was built by Scott, Boyle & Co., and is of the following dimensions: Length 75, width 16 feet, and depth 3 feet; and draws but 7 inches of water light."

To Drovers, Stock-Dealers, Teamsters, &c.

The undersigned is now operating a Wire Ferry at the Ohio River, between Smith's Ferry and Georgetown, and is prepared to carry passengers, stock of all kinds, teams, &c., at the customary prices.

Thankful for the liberal patronage heretofore bestowed, he respectfully asks for a continuance of the same. [jel:3m] JESSE SMITH.

Alas! How Changed.—Two or three weeks ago the faces of candidates and their friends were all radiant with smiles. Since the primary meetings however, the aforesaid smiles have nearly all departed, and the "dear people" can now doubtless comprehend the following:

Which I wish to remark—
And my language is plain—
That for ways that are dark
And tricks that are vain,
Candidates are somewhat peculiar.

Watch Repairing.—If your watch is out of order, send it to JOHN STEVENSON'S SONS & Co, Pittsburgh, it will be repaired and returned free of express charges. All work warranted. [je7-1y.

In Jail.—A boy of about fifteen years of age, named Henry Neely, was arrested in New Brighton last week, for stealing a coat and vest. He is now quartered in the county jail awaiting the action of a "jury of his countrymen."

The School Book Law.—The Legislature which has just adjourned passed the following act. It has been approved by the Governor:

SECTION 1. That hereafter the board of directors of any district, the controllers in cities and boroughs or any school superintendent, shall not order or direct any change in the school books or series of text books used in any school under his or their superintendence, direction or control more than once in every period of three years, and any laws or parts of laws inconsistent herewith be and the same are hereby repealed.

SECTION 2. Any school director, controller or superintendent who shall violate the provisions of this act shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be sentenced by the court to pay a fine not exceeding two hundred dollars and be deprived of his office.

Killed by the Cars.—A German, named Frederick Myers, aged about 57 years, while walking on the track of the Pittsburgh, Ft. Wayne & Chicago R. R., on Tuesday, of last week, was struck by the locomotive of a freight train, and one of his legs horribly mangled. He lived until Wednesday afternoon when death ended his sufferings.

Personal.—John Collins, esq., formerly of this county, but now of Chicago, Ill., paid our town a visit last week, and spent a few days, pleasantly among his many friends in and about Beaver. Mr. C., to us, seems as young now as he did, fifteen years ago. Time has evidently been dealing lightly with him.

STATE SUNDAY-SCHOOL CONVENTION.—The Seventh Annual Convention of the Pennsylvania State Sabbath-School Association will be held at Allentown, Penn'a, on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, the 13th, 14th and 15th of June. All the earnest Sunday-school workers of the Keystone State are cordially invited to be present. Each evangelical school is requested to send two or more delegates. Those who propose to attend should notify A. J. Brobnig, Allentown, Pa., who is Chairman of Local Committee of Arrangements, on or before the 7th of June, so that entertainment may be secured, and orders for excursion tickets procured and forwarded.

On Thursday morning Mr. Nathaniel George, of North Huntingdon township, Westmoreland county, while driving home from Irwintown, where he had been buying a stove, was thrown from his wagon, the horses having taken fright and run the vehicle on to an embankment. The cooking stove was thrown on to Mr. George's head, breaking his neck and killing him instantly.

HATS, hats, hats. Summer styles just received, at MRS. F. D. Fast's.

Mr. John Hancock, an old and highly respectable citizen of Woodcock township, Crawford county, committed suicide on Tuesday of last week by hanging himself in his barn. He was a well-to-do farmer, a member of the Methodist church, and stood well in the community. No cause can be assigned for the rash act except that he had been in poor health for a few days previous. He leaves a wife and seven children.

Information Wanted.—About twenty years ago, a Mr. Morriss Burris, a baker by trade, took my son, then an infant, to raise. A few years afterward Burris left Delphos, and all efforts on my part to find his whereabouts, or learn anything of my son has proved fruitless. Papers willing to do a kindness to an afflicted family will confer a favor by noticing the above. It is our hope that the notice may reach the eye of some one who can give information. Address Georgo Long, Napoleon, Ohio.

"Hard Times."—There is a good deal of gammon in the cry of dull times. They are really never as bad as the people represent them. Take the present occasion as an example. The deposits in the bank show that money is plenty; some of them having the largest accounts they ever had. A great many people who complain most have snug sums at interest or in the savings banks. Let all who owe others pay their honest debts and good times will soon come again. The plea of hard times is merely set up by some persons as an excuse for not paying their debts.

Mrs. Frederick Brown, a widow who resided in Vernon township, Crawford county, hanged herself on the 24th inst., by fastening the end of a rope to the latch of a door, then passing the rope over the top of it, fastened the other end to her neck, and by this means strangled herself until life was extinct. When found she was resting on her knees. She had previously put on her dress as if about to go on a visit. Some months ago her husband died, and since that event her mind has been somewhat deranged; but her friends had not anticipated that she contemplated self-destruction.

Strange.—That men will get drunk, swear, blackguard and howl round the streets like so many dervishes, and yet, when the public newspaper mentions the matter, they get outrageously mad, abuse the editor and threaten all manner of evil against him. That men will issue out whisky for votes, lead their neighbor to where the barrel is located and violate the law openly, in broad day light, after the manner we mentioned last week, and yet when the newspaper speaks of it they will grow terribly indignant and talk of all manner of revenge. Sirs, if you don't like your actions blame not us, but yourselves. You did that which you don't like to hear, not us. We publish news and propose to do so, regardless of objection or denunciation.—Waynesburg Republican.

The Soldiers' Orphans, of the Phillipsburg School, in this county, on special invitation, visited Pittsburgh and participated in the grand ceremonies of Memorial day in that city and Allegheny. We find them noticed in the published proceedings as follows:

The presence in our city yesterday of the soldiers' orphans of the Uniontown and Phillipsburg Soldier's Orphan's Schools, was by no means an unimportant or uninteresting event, inasmuch as they were never here before together.

THE DELEGATION FROM PHILLIPSBURG.

Those from the Phillipsburg school, numbering 130 in all—69 girls and 61 boys, in charge of their Superintendent, Rev. Mr. Taylor and ten of the lady teachers, reached the city at half past ten o'clock yesterday morning, and were escorted by a delegation of the G. A. R., which met them at the depot, to City Hall, where Mr. Lee S. Smith and others of the G. A. R., as well as some of our most prominent citizens, Hardy Preston, G. W. Batchelor, and H. J. Moore, esqs., and the ever welcome, patriotic ladies of the city, had prepared a bountiful repast. It comprised everything good and substantial, and the children partook of it with a zest. The boys were small straw hats and anl forms; the girls pink calico dresses and brown hats trimmed with blue ribbon. Every other girl had a silk flag in her hand, and every alternate girl a bouquet of flowers.

After the edibles had been disposed of and while waiting for the arrival of the pupils from the Uniontown schools, to wear away the time, Mr. Taylor had Willie Burns, who is only nine years old, and the least boy in the school, recite the piece he was to speak at the monument, namely: "A Speech on the Battle of Gettysburg." The piece is a parody on Tennyson's "Six Hundred," and was written by Mr. Taylor, Superintendent of the school. The piece was rendered in fine style, the speaker winning the commiums of all who heard him. The girls then sung the "Memorial Tribute of the Phillipsburg Soldier's Orphans," written by Miss Maggie N. Taylor, beginning:

"Honor the brave true-hearted,
The heroes of our land."

The children all apparently love their Superintendent and teachers, and the expressions of gratitude upon their faces as they partook of the meal spread before them, forced upon those who had helped to provide for them, the conclusion that the little ones also loved them. We are sure they did, and it is certainly a pleasure to know our city is so well supplied with warm-hearted and patriotic people. Mr. Taylor informed our reporter that notwithstanding there have been as high as four hundred children in the school during the past six years, not a single death has occurred, though many have been received in a terribly diseased condition.

Opening Other People's Letters.—John Harper, William Bowman and Alfred Davis, of Carroll and Tuscarawas counties, were taken to Cleveland on Thursday last, by Deputy United States Marshall Geo. W. Steele, of Mount Vernon, Ohio, at the instance of Special Agent C. P. Baldwin, of the Postoffice Department, charged with opening letters addressed to James Nolan, of Mineral Point, Ohio, it seems by the evidence that Harper, who is a Constable for Carroll county, had a warrant for Nolan's father, who was charged with poisoning a horse belonging to Bowman. For the purpose of ascertaining old Nolan's whereabouts, Harper demanded the letter addressed to the son, whereupon the Postmaster and himself proceeded to open and read the same, Bowman being an abettor. All three were held by United States Commissioner White in the sum of one thousand dollars each.—Minerva Com.

Who May Marry in Ohio.—Under the law of February 10, 1871, "male persons of the age of eighteen years, and female persons of the age of sixteen years, not nearer kin than second cousins, and not having a husband or wife, may be joined in marriage, provided always, that male persons under the age of eighteen years shall obtain the consent of their fathers, respectively, or in case of the death or incapacity of their fathers, then of their mothers or guardians." If the parent or guardian does not go in person to the Probate Judge, a written consent must be sent, witnessed by two persons one of whom must take it to him.

Thieves! KNAVES!! SWINDLERS!!! These are mild terms with which to designate those mean contemptible adventurers who have been indulged by the high reputation which Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy has won, to put up and offer for sale a worthless imitation of this celebrated medicine. Remember that R. V. Pierce's private Stamp, which is the only Positive Guarantee of Genuineness, should be upon every package. This private Stamp, issued by the U. S. Government expressly for stamping Dr. Pierce's medicines, has upon it his portrait, name and address, and words "U. S. Certificate of Genuineness." Don't get swindled by men calling themselves Dr. Sage; Dr. Pierce of Buffalo, N. Y., is the only man now living that has the right and can make the original Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy. Sold by Druggists or sent by mail on receipt of sixty cents.

The Mahoning Vindicator, comes to us enlarged materially, and otherwise improved typographically. It is now an eight-page paper, and contains a large amount of reading matter—outside of its, to us, vile politics. We are pleased to note this evidence of pecuniary success.

The Arlington Hotel, at Alliance, Ohio, formerly the "Nixon House," is now kept by Mr. Frank M. Kerr, formerly of Darlington, this county. It may be emphatically said, Mr. Kerr "knows how to keep a hotel." The "Arlington" has undergone a thorough repairs and painting, and now presents an inviting appearance. The Local says "Mr. Kerr and his lady are great favorites in hoteling with all who visit their place," and will add to the prestige of the House." We are confident if politeness to guests, with assiduous attention to their creature comforts will win favor with the itinerent public, the "Arlington" will soon become a popular stopping place.

About Rye.—Mr. Nazro Park of Bridgewater, this county, has some rye growing upon a lot in that village which is worthy of notice. It is all pretty tall, but here is the yield from one grain of seed:—One stalk 8 feet long; one stalk 6 feet; one stalk 6 feet 7 inches; one stalk 6 feet 11 inches; one stalk 7 feet 2 inches; one stalk 7 feet 10 inches; that is, 34 feet 6 inches from one grain of rye, or an average of 5 feet 9 inches to each of the six stalks.

A Theological Discussion.—A theological discussion is announced to take place in the Bethel Church, at Moravia, Lawrence county, on the 20th of June. The question to be discussed is as follows: "Resolved that the fourth precept of the Decalogue is binding upon the Christian as a rule of life." Affirmative—Revs. Patterson, Alexander and Johnson; Negative—Revs. Phillips, Cowdan and Cake, of Salem, Ohio. Rev. J. H. Aughey, of Rochester, this county, will preside at the discussion.

The Convention was then organized by the election of George S. Barker to be President, and Frank Minor, Thomas Todd and John S. Wilson to be Secretaries. The returns from the various districts were handed in and reported by the Chairman.

On motion of James Patterson, esq., a committee of five on resolutions was appointed, and the Convention adjourned until 2 o'clock, p. m.,

Convention met at 2 o'clock, p. m.

The Secretaries of the Convention then reported that they agreed in their count, and that the several candidates had received the number of votes given in the table published in this paper last week.

The Committee then organized permanently as a County Committee by the election of Samuel J. Cross, of Rochester, as Chairman; Smith Curtis, of Georgetown, as Secretary, and J. F. Miner, of New Brighton, as Treasurer.

Dr. David Stanton was then called upon to address the Convention, and responded as follows:

GENTLEMEN:—I can congratulate you upon the harmony which now prevails in the Republican party throughout the State. The delegates forming our recent State Convention, all reported the same happy condition at their respective homes, and gave assurance of a firm determination of Republicans to make the coming election a telling stroke upon the enemy, from which they would not recover in August, the struggle, if necessary, November, 1872. That Convention did its work with a unanimity and absence of ill feeling unprecedented in the history of State Conventions. In regard to your nominee for Surveyor General, Col. Robert B. Beath, I will briefly say that he is a man after your own hearts. He is, by education, well qualified for the position. A life-long Republican, he is worthy of your votes. As a patriot, he has, on the battle-field, shed his blood worthy of your love and gratitude.

To the candidate for Auditor General, my extreme modesty prevents an allusion. My opponent, General McCandless says that I uttered "a slander upon the pure and patriotic men who had perilled everything to defend their country in her hour of need." I suppose the General had reference to my expression, 'the late war of democratic rebellion.' In return for his compliment, I will say that the General "turned out his blood like water in defence of the supremacy of the laws and constitution," and that he is a man "against whose character no tongue of slander dare wag, for his character is spotless in all the relations of citizen and soldier;" and I say this on the General's own authority, for I read it in the speech he made at the time of his nomination.

Our platform is the same one on which we have gained so many glorious victories at the polls and on the battle field: one that requires us to take no "new departure" to occupy. You have, doubtless, all read it. I advise you to read and re-read it. It will warm up your patriotic impulse and inspire you with fresh courage for the campaign. It is sufficiently conservative to guard our liberties, and secure our prosperity; it is radical and progressive enough for the great party of political reform, and adapts itself to the necessities of a free and enterprising people.

The great aim of our party are to protect the sacred rights of manhood, to guard our nation's honor, to develope our great resources, to encourage our home industries and defend the rights of laboring masses against the encroachments of monied monopolies.

As it is to the Republican party the country is indebted for her abolition of slavery, for the crushing of the rebellion, for the death blow to the accursed heresy of State rights, for the maintenance of our finance at credit, for the reduction of the debt and at the same time, of taxation; so will it be the party towards which the loyal people must look for aid, all the oppressed must look for succor.

What have those struggling freemen in our coal fields to hope for from a party which would inaugurate dissension and rebellion rather than limit and cripple an institution of human bondage; our workingmen are with that people, and with the oppressed wherever found, and I trust that, through our party, they may soon find relief.

We must confess that in the recent platform of the Democratic party we can see some signs of a "new departure," some hopes, perhaps, of progress. They accept the situation with all the amendments, even including negro suffrage, thereby conceding that the great principles for which we have so long been contending are correct.

The present picture of Ohio copperheads talketh like a newly converted sinner, and the Pennsylvania mourners at the stool of repentance, cry, "Amen, so mote it be."

In the fullness of their gushing, first impulses they go for their candidates to that class they so recently stigmatized 'Lincoln hirelings." Is not all this encouraging? It would not be charitable to doubt the sincerity of their repentance, although it does look a little suspicious that after their acceptance of the amendments, they insert a "but," that little word which has always proven such a potent obstacle to repentance and reform. They say "we accept the amendments, but your attempt to enforce them is tyranny and usurpation." They say like their old dogma, "the States have no right to secede, but there is no power in the Constitution to prevent."

Well let us not be uncharitable. Let us not discourage and push back the mourners, but let us not admit them into full communion until they show works meet for repentance, until time has demonstrated its sincerity.

Gentlemen, I congratulate you upon the candidates this day declared upon your ticket, and I consider Col. Beath himself the "brightest prospect before them." They are all so well and favorably known by the people that they need no encomium. Let us go to work to elect them.

I sincerely thank you for the hearty support you gave me as Chairman of your late Committee. May the present Committee achieve more brilliant victories; may its labors be more light.

The Committee on Resolutions made the following report which was unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That we accept as our platform the enunciation of principles given forth by the late Republican National Convention, and will meet the issues presented by it with unhesitating confidence of success.

Resolved, That we indorse the Republican party of Pennsylvania in the recognition of the eminent merits of our fellow citizen, Col. David Stanton, in its nomination for the office of Auditor General, and we pledge him the cordial support and co-operation by the State Convention the earnest support of a united party, and an increased majority.

Resolved, That the administration of Gen. Grant, for its integrity, its economy, its reduction of expenses of Government, its rapid extinguishment of the public debt, and its wise and moderate policy in our foreign relations, meets our unqualified approval, and that we heartily endorse that resolution of the State Convention which recognizes him as the proper standard bearer of the Republican party in 1872.

Resolved, That the gratitude of the people of Pennsylvania is due to Governor John W. Geary for his able and upright administration of the executive office.

The following gentlemen were elected members of the Executive Committee for the ensuing year:

D. M'Kinney, Beaver; James Patterson, Beaver Falls; J. K. Buckley, New Brighton; Arthur Childs, Hopewell; J. H. Christy, Raccoon; John Sleets, Ohio; James Darragh, Bridgewater.

Clark A. Hunter of Ohio township was unanimously nominated for Auditor, to fill the unexpired term of W. H. Lukens, who had removed from the county. The Committee then adjourned to meet at the call of the Chairman.

Dr. H. J. Chandler, Dentist of Rochester, requests us to say that he will not be in his office in that place next week, in consequence of being chosen as a delegate to the State Dental Convention, which convenes at Gettysburg on the 13th. After the 17th of June he will be in his office as usual.

FASHIONABLE MILLINERY.—Ladies wishing the latest styles of Hats and Bonnets, at a reasonable price, should call at once, on Mrs. Bence, next door to U. P. Seminary, Beaver. She has just opened another large and well selected lot of everything new in the Millinery line. Remember now is the best time to buy. je7-3w

The Ravenna (Ohio) Democrat puts on record the following new style of making butter: "A few days since, Mrs. Mary M. Hughes put about a quart of cream in a cloth bag, and buried it about two feet deep in the earth, where it remained three days, when she disinterred it, and found it transformed into pure, sweet, yellow butter, with not one drop of buttermilk to be seen. Mrs. Hughes thinks that cream will yield about one third more butter by that process than by the old-fashioned way of churning.

For the West.—Mr. J. L. Courtney and wife of Vanport, this county, left for Mount Pleasant, Henry county, Iowa, on last Monday. We believe they intend making that place their home in the future. The good wishes of their numerous friends go with them.

A FACT.—It is an undisputed fact that Mrs. Bence's Hats and Bonnets are universal favorites. She has just received another lot of Hats, Bonnets, Flowers, &c. Give her an early call, one door below U. P. Seminary, Beaver. je7-3w

Mr. EDITOR:—A most foul and brutal murder was committed at Rochester, on the 30th instant, upon an unfortunate man, who it would seem from his education, may have seen better days, but who has been seduced from the path of rectitude by the fatal habit of the social glass—the morbid appetite created by the poisonous drinks now issued out by the dealers in the stuff—in this case as universally does, had so completely debased the victim that no entreaty from a distressed and weeping wife could restrain him from drinking, or the liquor seller from supplying the liquid weapon of destruction and death, until the fatal catastrophe was accomplished.

Now here is a fallen being not only mangled and torn and hurried unexpectedly before the bar of God, but an innocent wife and helpless children are robbed of the support and protection of a husband and father. Now the question for this intelligent Christian community to settle is, who is this guilty murderer, or who should be arrayed before the bar of justice and convicted for this cruel crime? The respectable Christian citizens that gave their names in favor of the license to murder and demoralize our fathers, husbands and sons, or the party that furnished the money to supply the free drinks to steal away the reasoning faculties of the ones to cast their votes, or the railroad cars which mangled its victim or the respectable vender of this destructive and poisonous liquid?

Now I would ask the question, can a person be guiltless that will sell or give away poison or a weapon of death to any one who, they know, will destroy his own life or some other's by the use of rum? HUMANITY.

Festival in the Presbyterian Church.—Those of our readers who receive the ARGUS on Tuesday evening, will we hope, bear in mind that a Festival will be held in the Presbyterian Church of Beaver this evening. A good time may be confidently anticipated.

PITTSBURGH MARKET.

OFFICE OF THE PITTS. GAZETTE,
MONDAY, June 5, 1871.

FLOUR—Has been moderately active during the week, though the demand is mainly local and the prices remain unchanged. We continue to quote red winter wheat at $7.00@7.25; white wheat at $7.50; good spring extras, $7.00 and choice baker's flour, $7.25. Rye Flour, $6, in a small way.

FRUITS—Green Apples, none in market. Dried fruit dull and the stock, particularly of anything good, is very light; apples, 7@7½; peaches, 10@11 for quarters, 11@12½ for mixed, and 13@14c for halves. Oranges, $6,50@7, Lemons scarce and higher, $7,00@7,50 per box. Prunes lower, 10c for Turkey, and 11@12 for French. Currants 10@10½c. Layer Raisins, $3 per box; Valencia's, 13 cts per lb.

GRAIN—The receipts are only moderate and with a steady milling demand prices are well maintained. $1,40@1,47 for red and $1,50@1,57 for white; there is but comparatively little No. 1 wheat offering, and consequently, it sells more readily and at relatively better prices than the poorer grades. Oats, market is steady and prices fully maintained, though the feeling in regard to the future is a little mixed; we now quote at 60@61 per bush in store, 65@67 selling—small lots, 65@67. So far as we can learn the crop at present in the sections of country tributary to this market, does not present a very promising appearance. Corn continues dull, though prices are without quotable change; sales during the week at 65@67 for mixed ear and prime yellow, in bulk, is being offered at 70@71. Very little doing in Rye; not much offering and the demand does not seem to be urgent; dealers are paying $1,00 for small lots—a round lot would bring 5@5 cts more. The market is bare of Barley, excepting what is in the hands of consumers, and there will be little or nothing done until the new crop is ready to move.

GROCERIES—Sugar—The past week has witnessed another sudden change in the sugar market, showing a decline of ¼c per lb in Refined with a corresponding decline in the raw material used by refiners. The decline has taken dealers by surprise, the opinion having been that sugars had touched bottom at 12½ for refined at the factories. It is thought by many traders that an effort is being made to bear down the market so as to give the refiners an opportunity to purchase stocks at low rates for the summer and fall business. If this should prove to be true, an advance in refined goods may be looked for as soon as the purposes of the "bears" are accomplished. This theory seems to gain favor, in view of the fact that it is at refining sugars that the strike has been made, while the higher grades, for grocers' sales, are held with a firmer apparent disposition to unsettle. The arrivals last week at the eastern ports were large, but not in excess of same time last year. Molasses and Sugars are quoted lower. Coffee has still further declined, except in the finest grades. The stock is large and increasing. Rice—Carolina still scarce and held at high figures, but has not reached the highest point of last year. Ragoon and Patna, in liberal supply at our quotations. Syrups—Off and cowlers anxious to sell all kinds of goods made from molasses—the supply of the raw material being in large surplus.

COFFEE—Fancy Rio, 19; Prime, 18; Good, 17; Fair, 16; Roasting, 15@16½.

SYRUPS AND DRIPS—White Honey, 72; Havemeyer's Golden, 72; Silver Drips, 60; Leverings, 63; other grades, 45@55.

SUGARS—Choice New Orleans, 11; prime 11; good, 10; fully fair, 10; Porto Rico sugars, 10@11; Cuba, 10@11; Demarara, 11@12.

REFINED SUGARS—Hard Sugars, 13; A Coffee, 12; "B," 12; Extra C, 12; C, yellow, 12.

MOLASSES—New Orleans, choice, 70; prime, 68; good, 65.

For the Beaver Argus.

The suggestion made in the ARGUS a week or two ago, was certainly a good one, and it should not be unheeded by your numerous readers, many of whom are capable of furnishing a short essay on some religious topic, if not every week, at least monthly, so as to make the column appropriated to religious matter interesting and desirable. Here in old Beaver, and all over the county, and wherever our papers are sent, among christians of different denominations, a steady stream of gospel-truths, not controversial, might be supplied by the press, through the week to aid the pulpit somewhat, in its great work of soul's salvation. God can work at all seasons of the year, and on any day in the week; he has done it, and he will do it, by various instrumentalities. Let us stir each other up, and let us seize the honor of being co-workers with God while the day of grace lasts; "For the night cometh when no man can Work." God help us, to help each other, and that, right early; for, it is written; "In summer and in winter it shall be." An Alderney Calf for Sale.—A fine full-blooded Alderney bull calf is offered for sale by a gentleman in Beaver. For further information inquire at this office.

About one Doctor Kimball.—Some persons have an unhappy faculty of never being heard of, save in connection with some transaction of questionable character. Such an one is Doctor (?) Kimball, late (thank fortune) of this city. Not long ago this individual and his wife were the central figures in a 'scene' at the depot. About a week since he presented himself at the livery stable of C. P. Norris & Co., in this city, and engaged a horse and buggy for the purpose of taking a young lady a short distance into the country. He was to return at noon. Noon came, but not the doctor, nor the buggy. Two more noons passed away, and then a letter was received from the doctor, written at Mercer, but mailed at Erie, stating the horse and buggy would be found at Mercer, and that, before the letter reached New Castle the writer would be found in Canada. The horse was found at Mercer by Mr. Norris, who ascertained that at that place Kimball was accompanied by a young lady fallen in battle, but whose remains have not been discovered and brought home for interment. Several ladies of town had already decorated the latter elaborately.

The people were again eloquently and ably addressed by the Rev. D. P. Lowary of the Presbyterian Church of Beaver. We regret we have but an outline sketch of his speech—merely the heads—to report. In substance he said:

FELLOW-CITIZENS:—As time rolls on, the facts of history become indistinct. Great events may be fresh and well-known to us, and we may tell them so to our children as that they will be well-known to them; but only a few of the rapidly passing generations of time will have gone until these things with which we are so familiar, will become distorted and indistinct. It is well, as it has been the custom of all times, to commemorate grand events. This has the sanction of God and of the wisest and best of men. Many events—deliverance from peril, especially among ancient Israel—were distinctly commanded to be memorialized by simple but significant rites which were instituted, and were to be handed down to the latest generations. And, in the new dispensation, i. e.—new as contrasted with the heavy customs of fifteen centuries—the custom has both solemn and undoubted sanction.

"But," you ask me, "What has this to do with this day?" "This is Decoration day!" True, yet what is this but a calling to remembrance? "Remembrance of what?" The whole past history of our nation, and of the events preceding its natal day by at least an hundred years. Its establishment, youth, prosperity and developement, up to the never-to-be-forgotten years of 1860 and 1861; and then, especially the immediately succeeding—but in the event, as seems to us—the long-delayed years of strife and bloodshed, but with their glorious issues. The day is one of retrospect, of remembrance. To-day many homes are sad. To-day many homes are thankful. [The reasons were given by the speaker]. The day is one inciting to present duty—to the preservation of our God-given rights—and to firm, unswerving resolves to advance in all things that will tend to our true developement and real progress—(a fruitful theme, but not to be dwelled upon just now). We may argue this from the past dealings of Divine Providence. He hath preserved us, and led and strengthened us, as a people, hitherto; and as Israel, of olden time, drew comforting and helping assurance from the retrospects of God's dealing, so may we. But we, who live to-day, have duties to perform and principles to inculcate—memories to hand down, and living aright, cherishing the names and virtues, and heroism of those whose graves we to-day decorate with flowers; giving their names to our children, and our children's children, to latest generations of time, let us perpetuate this day and its hallowed memories. A day of remembrance, of present duty, of hope. It is "Decoration day." Weave the chaplet. Wind the wreaths. Scatter nature's fairest offerings lavishly! They died for our country—they died for us.

The above is but an outline sketch of the remarks of Rev. Mr. Lowary, who spoke extemporaneously; and, as we had no stenographer on the ground, his eloquent exordium and peroration, are lost to us for publication.

The benediction was pronounced by Rev. A. H. Bowers; after which the procession returned to the Court House, where it dispersed; highly pleased with the entire programme of proceedings.

The soldiers of the Post of the Grand Army escorted Capt. Winans' company—than whom there is not a more richly uniformed one in the State (all picked men, and as fair a specimen of America's sons as can be found in the same number) to the upper end of Beaver, where after a salute given and returned, they took their departure. They added much to the general interest of the occasion; and have the hearty thanks of this community for their voluntary presence, soldierly conduct, and sympathy with the spirit of the occasion.

It is well the day has not been made by law a public holiday. The spontaneous expression of feeling welling up from the hearts of the people to commemorate with flowers and wreaths the graves of their fallen sons in the cause of their whole country, is more like a family and fireside festival, than it would be were it made the subject of special enactment. The hearths are few where the memory of one lost in battle is not a frequent guest. The organization of soldiers under whose auspices "the first observance of this day was made, and whose skillful management has brought it to so successful an issue, has been especially fortunate in keeping the simple and touching ceremonial free from every taint of partizanship." On each successive year the ceremonies have been more widely and more favorably observed, until now the day has taken permanent rank beside the anniversary of our Independence as a national holiday. Long may its observance continue.

The thanks of the soldiers and their friends are hereby tendered to the Economy Society, to Mrs. Jackman of Industry, to Mrs. Cumming of Baden, and to other ladies and gentlemen of Beaver and vicinity, for flowers furnished for the occasion. They are also indebted to the Beaver choirs, and to Misses Maggie Anderson and Lou Wilson for music and aid furnished in the Decoration Services.

Pittsburgh Memorial Day.

Mayor Brush introduced to the assembled multitude, General George G. Meade, who spoke as follows:

Fellow-citizens of Pittsburgh; Ladies and Gentlemen: I am here to-day as a guest, and not otherwise a participant in the ceremonial occasion. I therefore did not expect that I should be called upon to make any remarks, but, as I stand here in your presence, surrounded by so many influences bringing back the associations of the times that are passed, I feel within me a spirit which stirs, and requires me to say at least a few words to you.

In the first place, I see these representatives—girls and boys, who are under the tender care of our State, which originated with the predecessor of our worthy and distinguished Governor, and successfully carried out by him. This State has taken better care of the children of those who fell as defenders of their country than any other State in the Union. Then I see before me this beautiful monument, erected by you, fellow-citizens of Pittsburgh, in honor of those who fell in the sacred cause, many of whom were my personal friends; and when I see this monument before me, my heart is saddened with the recollection of their noble qualities, and what their country, State and families lost when they fell.

It is not for me to recapitulate those of this county who died in defense of their country—such men as Black, Hays, Childs, Rippey, Jackson, and a host of others, men whom I knew, who were by my side, many of whom I almost saw stricken down. Under these circumstances I feel saddened, yet at the same time I rejoice to know that, as so many men of this county went to the war, and so many never returned, you have not forgotten them, but have erected this monument to their memory, and I also rejoice to see you take so much care of those made orphans by the war.

SPEECH OF GOVERNOR GEARY.

Governor Geary was then introduced, and was greeted with cheers. In response he said:

My Fellow-citizens:—I did not expect to be called upon to speak at this time, but as it has been the pleasure of your worthy mayor to call upon me, I trust that I shall have your attention a few minutes. We are assembled this day upon this classic eminence, overlooking these rivers, hills, plains and cities, the busy hum of which has been suspended for this day's occasion. We have come here to assist you in the celebration, with appropriate ceremonies, of yonder majestic monument in honor to some of our brothers who have rendered inestimable services to their country, even to the yielding up of their lives for their beloved country. This occasion, my friends is full of deeply interesting circumstances. They arise in our hearts, one by one, so rapidly that we can scarcely stop to give them utterance. The gallant soldier who has just taken his seat, has referred to other monuments of Pennsylvania's greatness—these orphan children, who stand here in such numbers and who are the representatives of the dead soldiers. They are a monument to us in a manner in which Pennsylvania and Pennsylvanians are rearing them up—that of which she will never have occasion to be ashamed.

These children are the special wards of the State, and I am delighted that they are here to-day, and I am also delighted that Gen. Meade has seen proper to pay them a passing notice. We honor those who died on the battle field, and whose names honor the scrolls of our country, and to-day we have been ornamenting and decorating their graves with the choicest floral offerings, and their graves have been moistened with tears of the purest affection. There have been parents to-day who have moistened the graves of their first born, those sons who have given a dreadful sacrifice to their country.

There have been those to-day who have decorated unknown graves. We have read of the Athenians, when they erected a monument to the unknown God, but it is for those of this generation, my friends, to go forward and decorate the graves of the unknown dead. But their names are registered on high, and the Great Father of us all will not forget them, when He comes to make up the jewels in His crown. When we think of the sufferings and sacrifices of our heroes we are irresistably carried back in memory to the services of those men, and I have no doubt there are men here to-day to whom the mystic chords of memory can recall those dead heroes as the friend of their march, the companion of their bivouac, and their comforter on the battle field. We cannot help being impressed with the solemnity of this scene. We cannot help having our hearts aroused by the patriotic emotion to which every American heart is subject when he sees those old torn banners and those stars and stripes which we all delight so much to honor.

We cannot help but to respect those who have delivered our country within the last few years. We can go where soldiers enter the battlefield, and we can go with them amid the clash of arms; we can hear the shouts of victory and the wailings of the vanquished; we can record the names of many with pride and pleasure who have been added to the roll of honor, no matter whether they have been commanders or officers; but we can add thousands and tens of thousands of the men who composed the class of rank and file.

We can recollect the scenes which have made our hills and our valleys classic ground, where the sons of the loyal States, with firmness—unbending firmness, I may say—gave up their lives for their country, where they laid down their bones side by side in the same rude grave; where their blood crimsoned the same soil and mingled in the same sacred streams. These circumstances, my friends, should encourage us to cherish the recollection of a common danger and a common glory, and should cause us to cherish the blending together of our States in one grand perpetual Union, thus cemented by the blood of our citizens.

The decorations of this day, and the tears that have been shed by the people over the graves of our country's brave defenders, are far more eloquent testimonials to their worth, and to the veneration and affection of our people, than any monument that could be erected to their memory. They are far more than the most eloquent eulogiums that could be pronounced by the most gifted tongue. The eulogiums are as the dew of heaven which is distilled in the night, but is dissipated by the morning sun. My friends, you have done right in exerting yourselves to erect that durable, enduring monument to the brave sons of Allegheny county, and which you have this day dedicated to their memory. The gallant dead have gone to their final rest, their trials and their labors have ceased. Their memory will forever be associated with their country. Their achievements will be recorded and perpetuated in the hearts of their countrymen, when yonder beautiful and magnificent monument shall crumble into dust, and human affairs shall have terminated in eternity.

A SONG.

The Phillipsburg Soldiers' Orphans then sang a memorial tribute, written by Maggie M. Taylor.

RECITATION BY A SOLDIER'S ORPHAN.

Mr. Taylor then introduced little Willie Burns, of the Phillipsburg orphan school, who recited a parody on Tennyson's "Charge of the Light Brigade." The little fellow, who is only nine years old, recited his verses in a manner which elicited the heartiest applause. The following are the verses:

MARCH OF THE SIXTY THOUSAND.

Half a mile—half a mile!
Half a mile onward,
On to the rebel host
Marched sixty thousand:
Means and Hancock ahead,
Forward the Pennsylvania Reserves
Charge for the gun Meade said,
On the rebel host
Marched sixty thousand.

Cannon to right of them—
Cannon to left of them—
Cannon in front of them—
Volleyed and thundered,
Stormed at with shell and shot.
Each charge fresh courage bought,
Bravely they marched and fought,
Geary's corps had no thought of fear
Thought but a Country near,
Straight into Gettysburg
Marched sixty thousand.

Flashed all their bayonets bare.
Flashed as they turned in air,
Ready to do said dare—
Charging an army
While all the world wondered:
Plunged in the batteries' smoke,
Right through the lines they broke,
Traitor and rebel
Reeled from the sabre stroke
Then they marched back again,
But not—not sixty thousand.

Cannon to right of them,
Cannon to left of them,
Cannon behind them
Volleyed and thundered,
Stormed at with shot and shell.
Officer and private fell,
They that had bravely fought!
Came from the jaws of death,
With victory dearly bought—
All that was left of them,
Of sixty thousand!
When can their glory fade?

Oh! the heroic charge they made!
Friend and foe wondered;
Honor to each is due,
Those gallant men and true,
Brave, loyal thousands.

Painful Lungs.

It has been too much the habit to recommend and take any kind of cough and lung medicine, without the paramount consideration of discriminating the source from which it is obtained, or its fitness for the purpose for which it is designed. There is a cough and lung medicine which is sure and permanent in its effects, and however people may doubt the sincerity and truth of an advertisement, they will find this all that is promised for it. We mean DR. KEYSER'S PECTORAL SYRUP. Lest the name might be forgotton, cut this out, and ask for DR. KEYSER'S PECTORAL SYRUP. One dose often cures a recent cough, and the Doctor says he has known half a dozen of people cured with one bottle. There is no medicine anywhere that is of superior value to this; and in old standing, and consumptive or bronchitic cases, it is taken with advantage, in conjunction with DR. KEYSER'S LUNG CURE, one of the most valuable medicines for old and long-standing chronic pulmonary diseases that has ever been discovered. DR. KEYSER has a private office for the treatment of lung and other chronic diseases, at 167 Liberty Street, Pittsburgh, and has every facility for sounding and exploring the lungs and ascertaining their condition. The medicine is now sold in nearly every drug store, at 75 cents per bottle. If you can't obtain it from your druggist, send to the Doctor's store and he will send it.

Johnson's Rheumatic Compound.
Sellers' Imperial Cough Syrups.
Lindsay's Improved Blood Searcher.

Rheumatism and Neuralgia.

No medicine ever offered to the public for the cure of Rheumatism and Neuralgia, &c., has gained such a wide spread reputation as JOHNSON'S RHEUMATIC COMPOUND. It is without doubt an invaluable medicine. Testimonials have been received from rich and poor, learned and unlearned, civilian and soldier, while physicians recommend it and use it in their practice.

1871. Established 1835.

Sellers' Imperial Cough Syrup.

We beg to call to the minds of our readers that this season of the year, above all others, is the one in which they are liable to COUGHS, COLDS, INFLUENZA, &c., whilst the LITTLE ONES are in constant danger of that most alarming and fatal of all diseases, CROUP.

It is, therefore, necessary that every family should provide a positive remedy, one that is ready for use at all times.

SELLERS' COUGH SYRUP you will find a sure and speedy remedy for coughs, colds, and all diseases arising from them.

Lindsay's Blood Searcher.

The Blood is the very fountain of life; therefore, if we wish to restore health, we must first purify the blood, and to insure continued health, keep it pure. LINDSAY'S BLOOD SEARCHER is the safest and most effectual medicine for obtaining this desired effect, is always safe, and the most delicate can use it.

THE JOSH BILLINGS PAPERS.

The Fashionable Woman's Prayer.

Strengthen mi husband, and may his faith and his money hold out to the last.

Draw the lamb's wool ov unsuspicious twilight over his eyes, that mi flirtations may look to him like viktorys, and that mi bills may strehgthen his pride in me.

Bless! oh, Fortune, mi krimps, rats and frizzles, and let thi glory shine on mi paint and powder.

When I walk out before the gaze ov vulgar men, regulate mi wiggle, and add nu grace to mi gaiters.

Bless all dri goods klerks, milliners, manty-makers and hair frizzers, and giv immortality to Lubin, and his heirs and assigns forever.

Take mi two children off from mi hands, for they bother me, and take them to be thi children, and bring them up to suit thiself.

When i bow miself in worship, grant that i may do it with ravishing elegance, and preserve unto the last the lily-white of my flesh, and the taper of my fingers.

Smile thou graciously, Oh! Fortune, upon mi nu silk dress, now in the hands ov the manty-maker, and may it fit me all over like unto as the duks foot fitteth the mud.

Destroy mine enemies with the gaul ov jealousy, and eat thou up with the teeth of envy all those who gaze at mi style.

Save me from wrinkles and foster mi plumpness.

Fill mi both eyes, oh, Fortune! with the plaintive pizon ov infatuashun, that I may lay out mi victims, the men, as knumb images graven.

Let the lily and the roze strive together in mi cheek, and may mi neck swim like a goose on the bussum ov krystal waters.

Enable me, oh, Fortune! to wear shoes still a little smaller, and save me from all korns and bunyons.

Bless Fanny, mi lapdog, and rain down bezoms of destruckshun upon those who would hurt a hair ov Hektor, mi kitten.

Remove far from me all the walls ov the sorrowful, and shield mi sensitiff nature from the klamours ov the widder and the rank necessitys ov the orphan.

Smile, oh Fortune! most sweetly upon Dick, mi kanary, and watch over, with the fondness ov a mother, my two lily-white mice with red eyes.

Enable the poor to shirk for themselves, and save me from all missionary beggars.

Shed the light ov thi countenance on mi kammel's hair shawl, my lavender silk, mi point lace and mi necklace of diamonds, and keep the moths out ov mi sables, I beseech thee.

There is no scarcity of books to sell. But the great success of an agent lies in his selecting that work which meets the wants of the times, and deals most powerfully with the living issues of the day. The recent efforts of the enemies of Protestantism to banish the Bible from the Public Schools, and the late attempts in the Legislature of New York and Illinois to legalize this outrage upon our civil and religious liberties, have aroused in the minds of all true Protestants a desire to know and have circulated a more thorough knowledge of the intents and purposes of this great organization, which boast they will possess this country before the close of the Nineteenth Century. THE OPEN BIBLE deals with these questions, and the readiness with which the first two editions have been sold is sufficient proof of the interest felt in the book.

A FAMILY RECORD

AND

FAMILY ALBUM.

The Pictorial Family Bible contains a storehouse of information that can only reach the mind through the eye. Its illustrations carry one back to the most important era of the world, and are of themselves a comprehensive review of the scriptures, representing the most interesting views, Characters, Symbols, Historical Events, Landscape Scenes, Antiquities, Costumes, Beasts, Birds, Insects, Plants, Minerals, Coins, Medals, Inscriptions and Incidents referred to throughout the Sacred Text. They attract the eye, correct erroneous impressions, awaken new thoughts, and furnish clearer views of Divine Truth. As a help to Parents, Ministers and Sabbath-School Teachers in fulfilling the duties of their separate and high vocations—and to all others to whom immortal souls are intrusted—this splendid Pictorial Volume cannot be overestimated. It is the Edition

Most Suitable for the Family,

Most Valuable for the Student,

Most Instructive for the Teacher,

Most Appropriate for the Child,

Most Useful for the Minister,

Most Interesting for the Farmer,

Most Elegant for the Parlor,

Most Profitable for the Study.

The Pictorial Family Bible, in addition to the features already alluded to, contains the Apocrypha, Concordance, Psalms in Metre, a Summary of the Sacred Truths to be taught in the Inspired Book, together with numerous and comprehensive Tables and other historical and explanatory Matter, embodying the labors of many of the most eminent Biblical Scholars. It is printed on the finest calandered paper, from clear and open type, in one large and handsome quarto volume, and is bound in the most substantial and attractive manner, while the prices are sufficiently low to place it within everybody's reach.

Experienced Agents are wanted throughout the country for its sale, with whom liberal arrangements will be made. An opportunity of equal promise is rarely or never presented. Its sale will not be limited to any period, but will continue for a lifetime, constantly increasing with the growth and intelligence of the country. It is therefore desirable that those who engage with us, shall do so with a view to making the business a permanent one.

Ministers, Teachers, Students, Farmers, Young Men and Women—those who would meet with the most desirable of all employments—are invited to correspond with us with a view
